Member Travis LeBlanc's Statement on the Board's Report and Recommendations on CIA
Counterterrorism Activities Conducted Pursuant to E.O. 12333

The following is a separate statement from Board Member Travis LeBlanc:

“The Privacy and Civil Liberties Oversight Board has the vital task of identifying, assessing, and notifying Congress and the public about warrantless surveillance programs. The Board has now met our mission to promote transparency and accountability by shining a light on the CIA's EO 12333 activities. Yet again--and eerily reminiscent of concerns expressed in my previous assessment of NSA's XKEYSCORE program--I have serious reservations about how our Intelligence Community handles U.S. person information. This is a recurring issue that again raises important privacy and civil liberties concerns. I want to thank Senators Ron Wyden and Martin Heinrich for their determination to make our work and these reports public. I also want to thank the Board's staff for its many years of tireless work on both reports.”
