Executive Summary

This Semiannual Report details CRCL’s complaints activities, as required by section 803 of the Implementing Recommendations of the 9/11 Commission Act of 2007, 42 U.S.C. § 2000ee-1(f). This Report includes information on CRCL’s investigative work during the first and second quarters of FY 2019.

The majority of complaint investigations opened during this time period focused on allegations made against U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE). A significant portion of complaints received concerned ICE’s alleged inadequate medical and/or mental health care for detainees in ICE custody (outlined in the table below). CRCL contracts with subject matter experts in areas including general corrections, medical and mental health, suicide prevention, environmental health and safety, and law enforcement practices to evaluate these claims and make recommendations.

II. Civil Rights and Civil Liberties Impact Assessments

As part of its statutory requirement, the Office for Civil Rights and Civil Liberties (CRCL) conducts in-depth examinations of the civil rights and civil liberties implications and effects of selected Department of Homeland Security (DHS) programs, and provides suggestions for improvements to those programs. There was no activity concerning impact assessments in the first and second quarters.

III. Investigations Data and Analysis

CRCL investigates complaints concerning:

- abuses of civil rights, civil liberties, and racial, ethnic, or religious profiling, 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(1);
- compliance with constitutional, statutory, regulatory, policy, and other requirements relating to the civil rights or civil liberties of individuals affected by the programs and activities of the Department, 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(4);
- possible abuses of civil rights or civil liberties, unless the DHS Office of the Inspector General determines that any such complaint or information should be investigated by the Inspector General, 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(6); and
- department, agency, or element actions, policies, procedures, guidelines, and related laws and their implementation to ensure that such department, agency, or element is adequately considering civil liberties in its actions, 42 U.S.C. § 2000ee-1(a)(2).

Under these authorities, CRCL reviews and assesses civil rights and human rights complaints. These matters arise in a variety of contexts, which we designate in the tables that follow as “situations,” and raise one or more issues. The tables set forth here identify investigations by the primary situation and issue involved.

CRCL initiates investigations based on allegations received from the general public and non-governmental organizations by U.S. mail, email, fax, and the CRCL telephone hotline. Incidents that might merit investigation are also forwarded to CRCL from other offices at DHS and other government agencies. Table 2 indicates investigations opened during the first and second quarters by the primary civil rights issue raised, the situation in which the investigation arose, and the DHS Component that was the primary subject of the investigation.

Pursuant to 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(6) and internal DHS policies, CRCL begins the investigation process by referring all complaints to the DHS Office of Inspector General (OIG).<sup>1</sup> OIG then determines whether or not it will investigate the complaint. In this report, complaints kept by the OIG are designated OIG retained. If OIG declines to investigate the complaint, it is referred back to CRCL for its own investigation.

<sup>1</sup> Under the former ICE Secure Communities initiative, and under its successor the Priority Enforcement Program (PEP), complaints involving the activities of state or local law enforcement agencies, acting under state law, that come to CRCL may not initially be referred to OIG if they do not involve allegations regarding the conduct of DHS employees. In those cases, CRCL would notify the Department of Justice, which has jurisdiction to investigate certain violations of civil rights by state and local officers.

Table 3 describes all complaints, including those initiated prior to FY 2017, in process<sup>2</sup> as of the last day of the quarter. If a complaint is referred to a Component for investigation, the Component issues a Report of Investigation to CRCL, which is reviewed by CRCL. If the case is retained, or short-formed<sup>3</sup>, CRCL conducts its own investigation.

When any investigation is complete, whether conducted by CRCL or the Component(s) involved, CRCL may close the complaint or provide senior leadership of the relevant Component(s) with any recommendations or advice for improving policies, practices, or training as appropriate. CRCL notifies complainants of the result of investigations, including any actions being taken as a result. Table 4 provides investigations closed during the first and second quarters, by issue, situation, and Component principally involved.

<sup>2</sup> The “in process” categories include multiple cases where Reports of Investigation (ROIs) have been received from Components and are currently under review within CRCL. For CRCL’s purposes, these investigations remain in process until we have completed our review and response to the ROIs.

<sup>3</sup> CRCL has implemented “short-form” complaint processing procedures to facilitate swift action on urgent complaints and expeditious resolution of allegations that are narrowly focused and require limited investigation. The short-form process makes it easier to open and close complaints, allowing speedier resolution. Cases that subsequently require additional work are converted to standard investigations.
