Executive Summary

This Semiannual Report details CRCL’s complaints activities, as required by section 803 of the Implementing Recommendations of the 9/11 Commission Act of 2007, 42 U.S.C. § 2000ee-1(f), during the third and fourth quarters of FY 2022. This Report includes information on CRCL’s investigative work during this time period.

The majority of complaints investigations opened during this time period focused on allegations made against U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE). Although the largest portion of complaints opened concerned alleged inadequate medical and/or mental health care for detainees in ICE custody, CRCL also opened several complaints related to due process, excessive force, and other aspects of the conditions of confinement in ICE immigration detention facilities. Regarding CBP, CRCL opened multiple complaints concerning allegations of medical and mental health care at checkpoints and ports of entry, and regarding due process issues related to unaccompanied minors in CBP custody (outlined in the table below). CRCL contracts with subject matter experts in areas including general corrections, medical and mental health, suicide prevention, environmental health and safety, and law enforcement practices to evaluate many of these claims and make recommendations.

II. Civil Rights and Civil Liberties Impact Assessments

As part of its statutory requirement to advise Department leadership on constitutional, statutory, regulatory, policy, and other requirements relating to civil rights and civil liberties (see 6 U.S.C. § 345), CRCL reviews Department programs, policies, and activities to determine whether they have an impact on the civil rights or civil liberties of those affected and provides suggestions for improvements to those programs. CRCL did not conduct an impact assessment in the third or fourth quarters of FY 2022.

III. Investigations Data and Analysis

CRCL reviews complaints concerning:

- alleged abuses of civil rights, civil liberties, and profiling on the basis of race, ethnicity, or religion by employees or officials of the Department, 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(1);
- compliance with constitutional, statutory, regulatory, policy, and other requirements relating to the civil rights or civil liberties of individuals affected by the programs and activities of the Department, 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(4);
- possible abuses of civil rights or civil liberties, unless the DHS Office of Inspector General determines that any such complaint or information should be investigated by the Inspector General, 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(6); and
- department, agency, or element actions, policies, procedures, guidelines, and related laws and their implementation to ensure that such department, agency, or element is adequately considering civil liberties in its actions, 42 U.S.C. § 2000ee-1(a)(2) and (a)(3).

Under these authorities, CRCL reviews and assesses civil rights and human rights complaints. These matters arise in a variety of contexts — labeled “situations” in the tables below—and concern one or more issues. The tables below identify investigations by the primary situation and issue involved.

CRCL initiates investigations based on allegations received from the general public, other federal agencies, non-governmental organizations, and Congress. These allegations may be based on media reports or other sources. Allegations may be submitted via U.S. mail, email, fax, or the CRCL telephone hotline. Incidents that might merit investigation are also forwarded to CRCL from other offices at DHS and other government agencies.

Table 2 summarizes investigations opened during the third and fourth quarters of FY 2022 by the primary civil rights issue raised, the situation in which the investigation arose, and the DHS Component that was the primary subject of the investigation.

Pursuant to 6 U.S.C. § 345(a)(6) and internal DHS policies, CRCL begins the investigation process by referring all complaints to the DHS Office of Inspector General (OIG).<sup>1</sup> OIG then determines whether or not it will investigate the complaint. In the tables below, complaints kept by the OIG for investigation are designated “OIG retained.” If the OIG declines to investigate a complaint, the complaint is referred back to CRCL for investigation.

Table 3 summarizes all complaints, including those initiated prior to the fiscal year, in process as

<sup>1</sup> Under the former ICE Secure Communities initiative, and under its successor Priority Enforcement Program (PEP), complaints directed to CRCL that involve the activities of state or local law enforcement agencies acting under state law may only be initially referred to OIG if they involve allegations of DHS employee misconduct. Otherwise, CRCL will notify the Department of Justice, which has jurisdiction to investigate certain violations of civil rights by state and local officers.

of the last day of the quarter.<sup>2</sup> If CRCL refers a complaint to a Component for investigation, the Component issues a Report of Investigation to CRCL, which is reviewed by CRCL. If the case is retained by CRCL, or short-formed,<sup>3</sup> CRCL conducts its own investigation of the matter.

When an investigation is complete, whether conducted by CRCL or the Component(s) involved, CRCL may close the complaint and/or provide senior leadership of the relevant Component(s) with any recommendations or advice for improving policies, practices, or training. CRCL notifies complainants of the results of investigations, including any actions taken in response.

Table 4 includes data about investigations closed during the third and fourth quarters of FY 2022, by issue, situation, and principal Component involved.

<sup>2</sup> The “in process” categories include multiple cases in which Reports of Investigation (ROIs) have been received from Components and are currently under review within CRCL. Pursuant to CRCL’s practice, these investigations remain officially “in process” until CRCL has completed its review and response to the ROIs.

<sup>3</sup> CRCL has implemented “short-form” complaint processing procedures to facilitate swift action on urgent complaints and expeditious resolution of allegations that are narrowly focused and require limited investigation. The short-form process makes it easier to open and close complaints, allowing speedier resolution. Cases that subsequently require additional work are converted to standard investigations.
